

Dear AASD members,

We are delighted to announce that the Journal of Diabetes Investigation, JDI has achieved its highest impact factor to date: 2.294. It's a huge progress toward the top medical science journal dedicated to diabetes, having moved up 12 places in the Endocrinology & Metabolism category.

We would like to profoundly thank the world-class editors, authors and reviewers who have all contributed toward this excellent result.

Impact factors are often used as a tool for evaluating a journal's quality. The 2015 Impact Factor takes into account citations in the papers published in 2013 and 2014.

Submit your article to JDI, the rising star journal!
